Explanatory Note

This Class includes, in particular:

- This class refers to services, not included in other classes, rendered by the mechanical or chemical processing or transformation of objects or inorganic or organic substances;
- Notes:;
 - 1. The dividing line between this class and Class 37 is as follows:;
 - Class 37 includes in particular repair services whose purpose is to restore an object to its initial state or to preserve it without altering its essential properties (for example, painting a garden fence even if the colour is different from the original);
 - Class 40 includes the transformation of an object or substance and any process involving a change in its essential properties (for example, dyeing a garment). Consequently, a maintenance service, although usually in Class 37 is included in Class 40 if it entails such a change (for example, the chroming of motor vehicle bumpers). Services covered by Class 40 may be present during the production of any substance or object other than a building; for example, services which involve cutting, shaping, polishing by abrasion or metal coating are all included in this class;
 - 2. For the purposes of classification, the mark is considered a service mark only in cases where processing or transformation is effected for the account of another person, using a substance or object belonging to that other person, to whom the processed or transformed substance or object is then restored. A mark is considered a trade mark in all cases where the substance or object is marketed by the person who processed or transformed it.
